FREIGHT. It is estimated that the amount of freight shipped from the Missouri river and transported to New Mexico, Utah, Colorado and northern mines, during the last year, amounted to fifty millions of pounds. To transport this immense amount 9,000 wagons were requisite, drawn by 30,000 head of cattle and 10,000 head of horses and mules. The employes are estimated at 10,000.—Salt Lake Vedette.

GEN. SCOTT AND JEFF. DAVIS.—It is related that a gentleman who called on Gen. Scott in New York, recently, found him in excellent health and much rejoiced at the successful termination of the war. The conversation turned on Jeff. Davis; the old General very pointedly and emphatically remarked: "I hope he will be hanged by the neck, sir—I hope he will be hanged by the neck."

The War Department has received the butt of a tree some two feet through, from in front of one of our earthworks on the old battle-field of Spottsylvania from which the tree top had been literally shot off with bullets. Twenty-eight pounds of leaden balls have been picked out and yet hundreds remain imbedded in the splintered wood. It attracts general attention.

[illegible] OF THE STATE

[illegible]SDAY MORNING, JULY 11, 1[illegible]

The News

The news we are able to give this morning, although the dates are not very recent, contains [illegible] points of [illegible].

It is authoritatively announced that [illegible] Breckinridge has escaped to Havana, [illegible] now is. It would have gratified every [illegible] to have had this darkest of traitors [illegible] time, but since he has eluded [illegible] an [illegible] effected his escape, we at least have the satisfaction of knowing that he will [illegible] denied the privilege of beholding the [illegible] noble country that gave him birth, but which he so criminally betrayed.

Admiral Goldsborough's fleet is rapidly preparing for a long cruise in European waters. It is understood that our Government intends to maintain a large naval force in the Mediterranean.

The work of reconstruction in the South is [illegible] satisfactorily. President Johnson is [illegible] by many of the leading rebels [illegible] of pardons. He is exercising the pardoning power cautiously, and with a disposition not to exculpate the more violent of the rebels. Those who were lately so defiant, are now servilely submissive. In President Johnson they find a man who cannot be moved from the course of justice by an exhibition on their part of false contrition and humility. It is noticeable that every individual who applies for pardon protests that he was [illegible] and was helplessly drawn into the rebellion. In a short time not a person can be found but who will deny that he was a participant in the fruitless attempt to subvert our Government.

The last place in the late "Confederacy" which was held by the rebel troops has been formally surrendered. The "stars and bars" will be seen no more. Henceforth the banner of slavery and oppression will not insult the flag of the free.

We publish in this issue conclusive proof that the murder of the President was concerted and [illegible] at Richmond by the parties who were charged with it in Mr. Johnson's proclamation. The disclosures are of a most startling character. The crime is fixed on the rebel leaders in so conclusive a manner that they cannot escape their guilt. The Government seems to have had [illegible] among the plotters in Canada. Apropos [illegible] Canadian conspirators, our dispatches state that General Dix has gone to Quebec to inform the authorities there that the British Provinces can no longer be permitted to be a place of refuge for those who continue to commit acts of hostility against the United States.

THE PRESIDENCY IN 1868.—Untimely and premature as such discussions are, the Copperhead papers of the East are nevertheless warmly debating the question of the next Presidency. Some venture to put forward the candidates of their choice, apparently in utter forgetfulness of the lesson of last year, which ought to have taught them that others are to be consulted in settling this not unimportant matter. Others, more cautious in naming their favorite for that high office, evidently recollecting that their three years labor of the last Presidential campaign resulted unsuccessfully, are devoting their energies and talents to the supererogatory work of thwarting the ambitious aims which they falsely ascribe to some of the more powerful of their political opponents. From the virulence with which they attack Secretary Stanton and Chief Justice Chase, it is evident that these self-sufficient President makers imagine those eminent personages to be greatly in the way of the next "Democratic" aspirant for the exalted honors of the Chief Magistracy. The observant censors of the official duty and conduct of those who are intrusted with the administration of the affairs of Government, pretend that they see in Mr. Stanton's course respecting General Sherman, an obvious design to break down that military chieftain's popularity so that he cannot become a candidate. In a similar [illegible] and for a similar purpose, it is assumed that the Secretary of War is endeavoring to dispose of General Grant. Thus, by their showing the pugnacious Secretary is purposing to clear the field of every competitor, and so render the march to the White House an easy one. It is difficult to see how folly, even in the lush of its maunderings, could babble on more irrationally or ridiculously than these witless politicians are doing.

Chief Justice Chase is also made the object of the their loudly uttered suspicions. Every movement of his, whether it be made in the course of official duty, or whether it be an act prompted by native courtesy, is tortured by these sharp eyed observers into an effort to secure popularity so that he may become the next President of the United States. The Chief Justice has lately been on a tour through the Southern part of the country. His purpose was to observe the condition of things in the Southern States, to see for himself what would be needed in the work of reconstruction, and to take measures to re-establish the United States Courts throughout the late revolted section. At once it was proclaimed that had gone on an electioneering tour. He happened to be present at a city in Florida on the occasion of a municipal election in which both whites and blacks voted; and because he administered the oath of office to the persons who were chosen it was announced at once in the newspapers of the President makers, that the Chief Justice was bidding for negro votes to aid him in 1868. Here is another example of the foolish conjectures which fraudful politicians indulge in.

None but the unwise will now begin to put a candidate in training for the next Presidential campaign. It is impossible to foresee what will occur before 1868, or what the peculiar circumstances of that time may demand. A party that has a hope for success must be guided by a policy which is both adapted to the occasion and which, with a far seeing intelligence, anticipates the wants of the future and promises to make provision for them.

A COPPERHEAD ON EXHIBITION.—We learn by the Albany Journal that one A. J. Thayer, a person remarkable chiefly for the violent manner in which he ejects Copperhead venom, and also duly remembered as one who made an abortive attempt to introduce himself into Congress years ago, lately so far forgot his true place as to associate with the loyal and patriotic people of Albany on the Fourth of July. Not only this, but he seized the occasion to impress the beauty of the doctrines which not long ago animated the "Southern Confederacy," upon the minds of the people who were assembled, not to hear the maudlin utterances of a Copperhead orator, but to celebrate the great day of liberty and national independence. The purpose of this insolent croaker was to show forth the cardinal doctrine of the "Democratic" faith—the divine excellence of human slavery. Only think of the perverse depravity of a person who will desecrate the day on which the principle was enunciated that "all men are created equal," by uttering a word in defense of the infamous system which sets this noble truth at defiance.

THE FOURTH AT BELLASSE.—A letter from Bellasse informs us that the people of that place and vicinity, celebrated the Fourth of July in a very appropriate manner. Rev. W. F. Boyakin delivered the oration. An excellent dinner was served. We have received an account of the proceedings of the occasion, but cannot find room to publish them in full.

Breckinridge Escapes to Cuba—West India News.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Herald's Havana [illegible] says Breckinridge and party were [illegible] left [illegible] [illegible] through the States of Georgia and Florida [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] three days and nights passed almost entirely with [illegible] At Cardenas they were [illegible] and received marked attention from the Spanish Government and people. They expected to [illegible] Havana for some time.

New York, June [illegible].—The steamer Eagle brings Havana dates of the [illegible]. The rebel Gen. Slaughter was driven out of Brownsville by [illegible] and had reached Havana. [illegible] Gen. W. [illegible] Taylor, Capt. [illegible] [illegible] Davis [illegible] and some [illegible] at Cardenas [illegible] from the [illegible] [illegible] Cardenas by a Spanish [illegible] charged by the Governor of the Cardenas [illegible] the Captain General at [illegible] Havana.

[illegible] continued. President [illegible] [illegible] victorious in all the engagements. The forces of the rebels were increasing. The United States steamer Port Royal nightly [illegible] to protect the residence of the U. S. Consul.

[illegible] Venezuela [illegible] petition signed by the most wealthy inhabitants of the Island of Cuba had been forwarded to Spain asking that Gen. Dulce may not be appointed as Governor General. The weather at Havana was very warm and there was an unusual prevalence of yellow fever.

Wm. [illegible] United States Consul General at Havana was a passenger on the Eagle.

The Herald's special dispatch says Gen. Butler's friends are pressing his name for the [illegible] [illegible] should fall in obtaining the post of Governor of Idaho.

The Question of Pardon.

NEW YORK, June 2[illegible].—The Herald's Washington special has the following: [illegible] was successful in the matter of the majority of the Richmond [illegible] committee, but failed in regard to a few individuals [illegible] the organization and in behalf of Gens. [illegible] St. John. The President asked for the names [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] included Jo. Anderson of the Tredegar Works. When it was handed to him he [illegible] carefully and pardoned such as were not especially obnoxious. A considerable effort is being made by the [illegible] of Alabama to have the President pardon L. P. Walker [illegible] first rebel Secretary of War. He retired from that position and was made Brigadier in '61, he says he was not sufficiently truckling to Jeff. Davis. He was denied any command commensurate with his rank until he threw up his commission and left the service. His friends claim for him that he always favored East Tennessee and volunteered to defend Brownlow and others. It is understood that Gov. Pierpont of Virginia declines to sign any more recommendations for pardon, as he says proper attention has not been accorded to the recommendations he has already made. He recommended the pardon of men like Anderson of the Tredegar Works who have made large fortunes out of the rebel Government during the war, and now desire pardon that they may enjoy the fruits of their labor in behalf of the rebellion. President Johnson does not realize the benefit to the Union cause to be derived from the promiscuous release of such men from the pains and penalties to which their acts have exposed them, whereat the Governor is much exercised.

The Election in Virginia.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Richmond papers of the 20th contain the following: At the late election in Accomac and Northampton counties Wm. H. B. Curtis, for Congress, received 1,113 majority. For the House of Delegates in Virginia, Thomas Williams and Dr. John W. Field were elected. Both were conservatives. Curtis was a Union member of the Virginia Convention and opposed to the confiscation. Tyler is the present United States Collector for the District. The citizens of Dinwiddie county held a meeting and adopted resolutions prohibiting negroes from [illegible] upon their plantations except upon business and fixing their pay at five dollars per month, refusing to hire any unless recommended by their previous employers. While recognizing Gov. Pierpont as Governor and appreciating his generous sentiments, they deprecate the Constitution of the State of Virginia as now in force and ask that the same course be adopted for Virginia that has been for North Carolina.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The Tribune's Washington special says that among the vast number of applications for pardon filed at the White House there is not a single instance where the applicant does not assert that he was opposed to the inauguration of the rebellion.

Surrender of Brownsville and Galveston.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The Navy Department has just received official dispatches from Admiral Thatcher, dated Galveston June 5th, reporting as follows: On the first of this month, General Brown commanding the U. S. forces occupied and garrisoned Brownsville. On the 2d the rebel Generals Kirby Smith and Magruder met in the harbor of Galveston, General A. J. Smith, representing Major General Canby, when General Kirby Smith there and then signed the terms of surrender previously agreed upon at New Orleans.

On the 5th, a full and formal possession of Galveston was tendered to the U. S. forces. The flag of the Union was raised on the 8th. Admiral Thatcher went ashore and was cordially received by the rebel navy and military authorities, who requested part of the U. S. naval forces to remain there for their protection. Galveston before this, is strongly garrisoned by U. S. troops sent forward by Gen. Canby. Gen. Sheridan is also probably there in person.

(Signed) STANTON.

Health of Gen. Grant—Death of Admiral Dupont.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Gen. Grant's health is somewhat impaired. He will seek a few weeks repose and is now in Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, June 2[illegible].—The Secretary of the Navy in general orders and notes to the Navy and Marines reports the death of Admiral Dupont after an honorable career of nearly fifty years in the service of his country. The order further says: This officer was distinguished for his ability and acquirements in his profession, and filled with credit many important positions, both ashore and afloat. He was especially distinguished for his decisive and splendid victory achieved at Port Royal on the 7th of November 1861, for which he received the thanks of Congress. As a recognition of his distinguished services and as a mark of respect to his memory it is hereby directed that at the Navy Yard at Philadelphia, flags be hoisted at half mast to-morrow, and continue so until sunset of the day of his burial, on which day at noon thirteen minute guns will be fired, and all other Navy Yard's flags will be hoisted at half mast on receipt of the order, and thirteen guns will be fired at noon.

The President's Policy in regard to the Indians.

WASHINGTON, June [illegible].—The President has directed W. P. Dole, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, to [illegible] the Indian country for the purpose of making important treaties with hostile and peaceable Indians. In his instructions to Dole the President says he deems the present a fitting time for the renewal of efforts urged upon the Indians the pressing necessity for abandoning their wild and roving habits and adopting the more peaceful and [illegible] ways of civilized life. There is no longer any region of territory in the United States where their rough habits are possible as formerly. They are being pressed on from every side by the advancing settlements of an aggressive and enterprising people. They must therefore adapt themselves to the new order of things and live in peace among themselves and with their white neighbors or must inevitably perish. The policy of settling them upon suitable reservations where they may with the aid and guardianship of the Government be able to subsist themselves by agricultural and other industrious pursuits, is left without alteration. Your experience in treating with Indians and familiarity with their character, seems to [illegible] out as the proper officer of the Indian Department to visit the various Indian tribes in the Territories, and enter into such treaties with them as will best secure the permanent [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Just as she was clear of the wharf the [illegible] appeared carrying [illegible] large [illegible] of cigar boxes [illegible] the cord wrapping his [illegible] were scattered broadcast over the wharf [illegible] the boat was full and away [illegible] the circumstance the disappointed passenger [illegible] of time sat down in [illegible] from his throbbing temples [illegible] worth of a moment and realized how he didn't get [illegible] City.

VACATION IN SCHOOLS.—The present time is a general [illegible] in the Public School, the Academy and [illegible] and Catholic schools of this city. The [illegible] have thrown aside the school book and entered [illegible] the playful amusements [illegible] a pleasant time [illegible] the youth. Those who can [illegible] a family to join friends in the country [illegible] older boys have engaged [illegible] they can blend recreation with profit [illegible] usefully useful men when they grow up. It is a study of human nature to witness the [illegible] he spend the time of vacation [illegible] disappointment others and there are but few in existence who have not experienced some of the [illegible] causing such effects.

[illegible] OVERSEAS.—The barkentine W. B. Scranton, William Cathcart, which reached this port on Sunday twenty days from San Francisco, experienced a very [illegible] passage having heavy weather and strong north [illegible] the entire time. On the first day of July at [illegible] o'clock in the afternoon civil time in latitude 41° 27' [illegible] longitude 125° 10' a sailor by the name of Anthony [illegible] an Italian by birth was lost overboard off the [illegible] boom guy. The ship was immediately hove aback, the boat lowered, and every effort possible made to save [illegible] but before the boat reached him he sank to rise no more. He had shipped at San Francisco, was a stranger to the rest of the crew and it is not known whether he had any relatives in this country.

[illegible] ON FRONT STREET.—In tapping the main of the Water Works on Front street yesterday the plumber [illegible] struck a "big thing." The [illegible] was of greater dimensions than was desirable, [illegible] "as free as water" was clearly exemplified. [illegible] extensive fountain spurted away, which required [illegible] effort to suppress. The leak was finally [illegible] and the trench bailed out, when a crowd that had [illegible] to witness the operation dispersed.

[illegible] PLACE.—The habitual frequenters of the Police [illegible] in this city who have been anxious to strike something in the proceedings of the Court have lately [illegible] dull time of it. There is literally nothing [illegible] raise a laugh, or create excitement, and times [illegible] dull about the tippling places [illegible] of sleepers on the side walks are [illegible] of any note [illegible] a common drunkard [illegible] of Judge Hoffman's advice and took up his [illegible] at the Hotel de Cross-Bars for a few days.

[illegible] ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—By order of Brigadier General McCraken, of the Second Brigade [illegible] forty-two petitioners for the organization of a [illegible] company in this city, will be held at the Court [illegible] Mr. G. J. McCormick has been [illegible] presiding officer. The meeting will be [illegible]. The organization is from members of [illegible] Brotherhood in the city.

[illegible] ACCIDENT.—A Mr. Ryan of this city was accidentally shot on the Fourth of July, the ball entering the [illegible] through the upper part of the chest and [illegible] near the shoulder joint. It was removed by Dr. Gibson. The patient submitted [illegible] with no assistance but that of the surgeon [illegible] is doing well.

[illegible]—We would call attention of those [illegible] good article of Philadelphia boots or shoes, [illegible] every style, to the card of Butler & Kast. They [illegible] assortment. In the same establishment have [illegible] a well assorted lot of books, etc. By the [illegible] of the store at present they are [illegible] of the understanding. Read [illegible]

[illegible]—There has been very little freight [illegible] going forward on the boats of the Columbia [illegible] for the week past. The [illegible] river boats [illegible] to our wharves well freighted with [illegible] nearly equal to the boat [illegible] of cattle and sheep to Victoria [illegible] via the Columbia river.

[illegible] MILL FOR GRANDE RONDE VALLEY.—The [illegible] machines [illegible] Valley to be located at La Grande [illegible] from the Oregon [illegible] takes charge of the mill [illegible]

[illegible] MANUFACTURE.—On Saturday last Messrs [illegible] shipped [illegible] a large contract from Mr. Lockwood [illegible]. The wagons are made for conveying [illegible] and are [illegible] each and are said to be every way superior [illegible] best quality of eastern [illegible] better than any coming from abroad.

[illegible]—The counsel for defendant in the case of the United States vs. J. H. Neyce yesterday [illegible] a motion in the United States District Court for a new trial. The motion was [illegible] was [illegible] for plaintiff, in the [illegible] with the verdict of the jury.

Myrtle Leaves from the Canyon

At the risk [illegible] I [illegible] the legal talent now here [illegible]

James Odell of the Dalles. A rather young but most interesting and intelligent man. I [illegible] for a wonder in the profession [illegible]. He seems very much in earnest with the world and stands high at the bar.

Col. Gates of the same place [illegible] man, full of fun, and good company.

C. R. Meigs, Prosecuting Attorney [illegible] from him I imagine would be worth [illegible] fun with him [illegible] Missouri. He seems to be a general favorite with members of the bar. Physically he is [illegible] dried dry as a chip, sharp faced as a razor and long as a rail. I rather like Meigs [illegible]

George L. Woods last but by no means least. He has as glorious a flow [illegible] who capture [illegible] the jurors [illegible] He is a good talker [illegible]

Of resident Attorneys Canyon City [illegible] O. Sterns of California [illegible] pleasant talker, and as agreeable a man as will be found in a thousand. Unlike Odell dame rumor says he stands high at the bar in more senses than one.

Judge Hill, County Judge, is a pleasant young man. He was married poor fellow a little while ago and is doing as well as could be expected.

Mr. Reynolds is a port little fellow and an old settler here. He takes life philosophically and makes Democratic speeches.

Squire Wells is a hard student, good counsel [illegible] man and said to be a good judge of law.

J. W. Whalley, Deputy Prosecutor, late of California, seems to have his soul in his profession. He is an Englishman by birth, but is said to possess much of the Yankee element.

Col. Grey is the biggest lawyer in town [illegible] head and shoulders ahead in hard sense and has a head as big as his body. He is the greatest story teller in the State (except "Yer H[illegible]") and is famous for telling the truth when he can't help it.

F. Adams is an agreeable gentleman. He is large headed, sandy haired, goes to church, and had ought to be a good man.

C. H. Miller is an old acquaintance of mine. He is the youngest attorney in town and the last of the list. He writes Circuit Court by making two straight lines and county by a cross. He is said to possess some advantage in Court by reading his papers to suit his own convenience as no one else can translate his hieroglyphics. He says he does not think he will ever succeed very well from the very fact that he is too [illegible] intellectual.

Poor Canyon! I am afraid the [illegible] speaks but poorly of thy morals. In truth I imagine some will say Canyon City is a [illegible] wholesome place or else there are some very hungry attorneys thereabouts.

[illegible]

Did me the kindness to call at dinner and with beautiful Mrs. Harsely [illegible] some members of the profession [illegible] and a pleasant dinner was pleasantly [illegible] up here at the foot of the [illegible] hills. A more agreeable and intelligent man than Judge Wilson is hard to find [illegible] any lady's parlor. But stories are told of [illegible] they call [illegible] Wilson [illegible] Judge Wilson came and [illegible] Wilson went [illegible] level with his old white hat [illegible] both mighty things and laughed [illegible] that he tells stories so large that [illegible] store cannot contain them. I hear again [illegible] called [illegible] and went with him. He is [illegible] storm rigid and unyielding with [illegible] law and having but little patience with those who have learned their law as I have my French [illegible] law in six easy lessons. Whenever [illegible] from them both but Judge Wilson I think is a real Washoe silver brick with a golden edge.

TESTIMONY OF [illegible]

Q. State where you reside? A. In Prince George county.

Q.—How near Surrattsville? A. About one mile.

Q. Are you acquainted with a man named Jenkins, a brother of Mrs. Surratt? A. Yes sir; I know two of her brothers.

Q.—Do you know the one who has testified in this case—J. Z. Jenkins? A. Yes sir.

Q.—State what position he has occupied toward the Government during the rebellion? A. During the first year he was looked upon as a Union man; after that he was looked upon as a secesh sympathiser.

Q.—Do you know Nott? A. Yes.

Q.—Did you have any conversation with him on the Saturday succeeding the murder? A.—I had.

Q.—State what it was? A.—I met two young men connected with General Auger's office, and one of them told me Surratt was supposed to be the man who cut Seward, and I asked Nott if he could tell me where Surratt was; he said he thought he was in New York by that time. I asked him why that was, and he said, "Mr. G. [illegible], John Surratt knows all about this, and do you suppose he is going to stay in Washington and let them catch him? I could have told you this thing was going to happen six months ago;" then said he, "keep that in your skin, for if you would mention it it would ruin me."

Q. What was Nott's attitude to the Government? A.—I have heard him speak against the Government and denounce the Administration in every manner and form, and heard him say that if the South didn't succeed he didn't want to live another day.

[In a long cross examination the witness simply repeated his testimony in chief.]

SUPPRESSED EVIDENCE—TESTIMONY OF SANDFORD CONOVER.

I am a native of New York; have resided in Canada since October last; was conscripted into the Confederate army, and detailed to service in the War Department of the Confederacy at Richmond, under James A. Seddon, Secretary of War; while in Canada, was intimately acquainted with G. N. Sanders, Jacob Thompson, Dr. Blackburn, Tucker, William C. Cleary, Capt. Castleman, Cameron, Porterfield, Captain Magruder and others; I also knew Clement C. Clay, and General Carroll of Tennessee. I know Surratt, also J. W. Booth, and visited those gentlemen in Canada; saw Surratt there on several occasions, last April, in Jacob Thompson's room; also in company with George N. Sanders, and other rebels in Canada. Surratt is about five feet nine or ten inches high, a fair complexioned man, with light hair. I saw him about the 6th or 7th of April with Thompson, Sanders and Booth; at that time he delivered to Thompson in his room, in my presence, dispatches from Richmond, to Thompson from Benjamin, and from Jefferson Davis; the latter either a cipher dispatch or a letter. Benjamin was Secretary of State of the Confederacy; previous to this Thompson conversed with me upon the subject of a plot to assassinate President Lincoln and Cabinet, of which I gave notice, before the assassination, in the New York Tribune, the paper for which I corresponded; I had been invited by Thompson to participate in that enterprise. When Surratt delivered these dispatches from Davis, Jacob Thompson laid his hand upon the papers, and said, referring to the assassination and to the assent of the rebel authorities, "This makes the thing all right;" the dispatches spoke of the persons to be assassinated, Lincoln, Johnson, the Secretary of State, Judge Chase and General Grant. Thompson said on that occasion, or on the day before that interview, that the assassination proposed would leave the Government of the United States entirely without a head; that there was no provision in the Constitution of the United States by which they could elect another President. Welles was also named, but Thompson said it was not worth while to kill him; he was of no consequence; my first interview with Thompson on this subject of assassination was in the early part of last February, in Thompson's room in St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal; he then spoke of a raid on Ogdensburg, New York; it was abandoned, but that was because the United States Government received information of it. He said he would have to drop it for a time, but added, "We'll catch them asleep yet," and to me he said, "There is a better opportunity to immortalize yourself and save your country," meaning the Confederacy. I told them I was ready to do anything to save the country, and asked them what was to be done; he said, "Some of our boys are going to play a grand joke on Abe and Andy," which he said was to kill them; his words were, "[illegible] them from office," and he said that the killing of a tyrant was not murder; that he had commissions for this work from the rebel authorities, and conferred one on Booth, or would confer one; that everybody engaged in this enterprise would be commissioned, and if they escaped to Canada they could not be successfully claimed under the Extradition Treaty; I knew that Thompson and the others held these commissions in blank; they commissioned Bennett Young, the St. Albans raider; it was a blank commission filled up and conferred by Clay, as it came to them from Richmond, it was only signed "James A. Seddon, Secretary of War." Thompson called me to examine these blanks, so that I might testify to the genuineness of Seddon's signature in the case of Bennett Young before Judge Smith; the signature was genuine; in a subsequent conversation, after the first, referred to in February, Thompson told me that Booth had been commissioned, and every man who would engage in it would be. I had a conversation with Wm. C. Cleary on the day before, or the day of the assassination, at St. Lawrence Hall; we were speaking of the rejoicing in the States over the surrender of Lee and the capture of Richmond. Cleary said they would have the laugh on the other side of the mouth in a day or two. I think this was the day before the assassination; he knew I was in the secret of the conspiracy; it was to that he referred; the assassination was spoken of among us as commonly as the weather; before that, Sanders asked me if I knew Booth very well, and expressed some apprehension that Booth would make a fizzle of it; that he was desperate and reckless, and he was afraid that the whole thing would be a failure. I communicated to the Tribune the intended raid on St Albans and the proposed assassination of the President, but they refused to publish the letter. I did this in March last, as to the President's assassination; also in February, I think; certainly before the 4th of March. Surratt delivered the dispatches in Thompson's room four or five days before the assassination; the whole conversation showed that Surratt was one of the conspirators to take President Lincoln's life; that was the substance of the conversation; it was also understood that there was plenty of money when there was anything to be done; the conversation indicated that Surratt had, a very few days before, left Richmond; that he was just from Richmond. While I was in Canada I was a correspondent for the Tribune, and received no compensation except from the Tribune; I have not received one cent from our own Government, nor the promise thereof. I [illegible] I was a correspondent for any paper; I only said I was seeking items; they supposed I was a rebel, and I was in their confidence. The suppressed Ogdensburg raid was printed in the Tribune. I did not communicate this matter directly to the Government for the reason that I supposed the communication in the Tribune would be seen by the Government officials, and I did not choose to have the information go to the Government directly from me. I requested Gay of the Tribune to give the information to the Government and I believe he did so. I saw Surratt in Canada three or four days in succession in April. I had conversation with him personally [illegible] Richmond. I was introduced to him by Sanders; I was ex[illegible] [illegible] to take part with those rebels in the raid on Ogdensburg. I never received any pay from [illegible] [illegible] I heard the capture [illegible] President [illegible] in February [illegible] [illegible] the appropriation [illegible] [illegible] a few days [illegible] in February. Thompson did say [illegible] April [illegible] were delivered [illegible] approval [illegible] that was the first approval [illegible] [illegible] Cromwell; this was in February. Hamlin was also named in February as one of the victims of the scheme. In April the persons to be named [illegible] Hamlin was omitted and Vice President [illegible] put in his place. I saw the [illegible] in Richmond; these commissions were all filled but the signature; they were to be given [illegible] so that in case of detection the parties [illegible] could claim that they were rebels [illegible] and therefore [illegible] to be treated as prisoners of war; it was understood that they would [illegible] Thompson said that the men who were engaged in the enterprise were [illegible] at execution, the Confederate Government would retaliate; that it was no murder, only killing. I think Booth was specially commissioned for this purpose. I saw Booth in Canada in the latter part of October, with Sanders, at Thompson's, at St. Lawrence Hall, where he was strutting about, dressing and playing billiards. I have heard these men talk of the burning of New York and other enterprises which they have under consideration now. There was a proposition before the agent of these rebels in Canada to destroy the Croton Dam by which the City of New York is supplied with water. It was supposed it would not only damage manufacturers but distress the people generally; Thompson remarked that there was plenty of force and that the city would be destroyed by a general conflagration, and if they had thought of this before they might have saved a great many necks; this was said a few days ago; Thompson, Sanders, Castleman and General Carroll were present. They had arms concealed, and a large number of men concealed in Chicago, some eight hundred, for the purpose of releasing the rebel prisoners there; about the same time it was proposed to destroy the Croton Dam; Dr. Blackburn proposed to poison the reservoirs, and made a calculation of the amount of poisonous matter it would require to impregnate the water so as to make an ordinary draught poisonous and deadly; he had the capacity of the reservoirs, and the amount of water generally kept in them; strychnine, arsenic, prussic acid, and a number of other things I do not remember, were named. Thompson feared it would be impossible to collect a large quantity of poisonous matter without suspicion and leading to detection; Thompson approbated the enterprise, and discussed it freely. Cleary did the same; it was also spoken of by one Montrose A. Pallen of Mississippi, and by a person who had been a medical purveyor in the rebel army. John Cameron, who lived in Montreal, told me that he was offered large compensation. I think Thompson was the moneyed agent for all the other agents; I think they all drew on him for all the money they required; I know some of them did; when Thompson said it would be difficult to collect so much poison without detection, Pallen and others thought it could be done in [illegible]. Pallen is a physician I think. I have heard Harris also mentioned in connection with the postoffice [illegible]; I think he lived in Toronto; there were other parties in Montreal that Blackburn employed, or endeavored to employ, but I do not remember their names. I saw Dr. Stewart Robinson, a Doctor of Divinity residing in Toronto; he edited a paper in Kentucky. I have seen him with Thompson and Blackburn, and he was present when some of these schemes were discussed; he approved them; he said anything that could be done under heaven would justify them under the circumstances; he appeared upon very intimate terms with Blackburn and Thompson; three or four days after the assassination of the President I saw John H. Surratt in in Canada with Porterfield, a Southern rebel now declared a British subject by the Canadian Parliament. I learned immediately afterward that Surratt was suspected, was pursued, and had decamped. I had a knowledge that Jefferson Davis was the head of the so-called Confederate States, was called its President and has entire control of its civil administration. General Carroll was present when Surratt brought the dispatches from Richmond, and when they were read by Thompson. I believe there were one or two others. General Carroll, of Tennessee, then said he was more anxious that Johnson should be killed than any one else; he said "If the d— d prick louse was not killed by somebody" he would kill him himself; he referred to Vice President Johnson; his expression was a word of contempt for a tailor; it means a tailor's louse. Booth was known in Canada by the nickname of Pet. I think I have heard Thompson so name him certainly. Cleary; Kennedy, who fired the city of New York and was executed, was spoken of as having performed that deed by authority of the rebel Government, under the direction of Thompson; this was communicated to me by Thompson himself or in conversation in his presence. Thompson said Kennedy deserved to be hanged, and he was devilish glad he was hanged, for he was a stupid fellow and had managed things very badly.

TESTIMONY OF JAMES B. MERRITT.

I am a physician and have been in Canada about a year. In October and November last, was in Toronto; met George Young there, a rebel from Kentucky; also Colonel Steele, from Kentucky. Young said to me, "We have something of much more importance than any raids." He told me it was determined that "Old Abe" should never be inaugurated; that they had plenty of friends in Washington, and called Lincoln "a damned old tyrant." I afterward saw George N. Sanders and Colonel Steele together. Colonel Steele said "the d—d old tyrant will not serve another term if he is elected." Sanders said at the same time, "He would keep himself close if he did serve another term," in Montreal in February last. I heard Sanders name a number of persons ready and willing to remove the President, Vice President, the Cabinet and some of the leading Generals of the United States, and he added that there was any amount of money to accomplish this purpose, meaning the assassination of these persons. He then read a letter which he said he had received from the President of our Confederacy, meaning Jefferson Davis, and which letter justified him in making any arrangements that he could to accomplish such object. There was a meeting at that time of those rebels, and a letter was read to them, the substance of which was that if the Southerners in the Canadas and the States were willing to be governed by such a tyrant as Lincoln, he (Davis) did not wish to recognize them as friends, and that he approved of the proposition to assassinate him. Colonel Steele read the letter, also Captain Scott, George Young and Hill, all rebels; this meeting was about the middle of last February; at the meeting Sanders named some of the persons who were to accomplish the assassination, and among them he named J. W. Booth, whom I had seen in Montreal in October; he also named George Harper, Charles Caldwell, Randall and Harrison. Harrold went by the name of Harrison. I heard Surratt's name also mentioned, and Harrold; there was a person named whom they called "King Tobacco." I saw Harrold in Toronto. Sanders and Booth were heart and soul in the matter; he was a cousin to Beale, who was hanged in New York; he added that if they could dispose of Lincoln it would be an easy matter to dispose of Johnson in some of his drunken revelries; that if they could dispose of the President, Vice President and Cabinet, and that if Seward could be disposed of it would satisfy the people North, and that a peace could be obtained; that they had endeavored to bring about a war with England, but Seward, through his energy and sagacity had thwarted their efforts, and for that reason they determined to get rid of him. On the 5th or 6th of April last, I met Harper, who said that they were going to the States to "kick up the damndest row such as had never been heard of." He added that if I did not hear of the death of Old Abe, the Vice President and of General Dix in less than ten days, I might put him down as a damned fool. [illegible] on the 6th of April. He mentioned the name of Booth as one of their friends there; he said they had plenty of friends in Washington, and that fifteen or twenty were going. He had started to go to Washington as early as the 7th, together with others. I communicated this fact on the 10th of April to a Justice of the Peace named Davidson, who after the assassination communicated it to the Government. Harper returned to Canada after the assassination. I had a conversation with C. C. Clay in Toronto, in February last. He spoke of the letter of Davis which Sanders had exhibited; he seemed to understand the character of the letter perfectly, and said he thought the end would justify the means. Surratt was pointed out to me in Toronto last February. I think I saw Booth there two or three times, and sat at table with him once, at the St. Lawrence, with Sanders, Scott and Steele; they were conversing with Booth and drinking wine with him at Sanders' expense. I saw Harrold in Canada in February.

TESTIMONY OF RICHARD MONTGOMERY.

I knew Jacob Thompson and Clement C. Clay, whom I have met in Canada a number of times since the Summer of 1864 up to this time; also George N. Sanders, J. P. Holcombe, Beverly Tucker, W. C. Cleary, Harrington, Hicks and others [illegible] names. Thompson had several names [illegible] [illegible] the Confederacy [illegible] the North [illegible] Lincoln and [illegible] [illegible] in January 1865 Thompson [illegible] Montreal [illegible] the world [illegible] [illegible] anything they would [illegible] [illegible] until [illegible] Summer [illegible] at the Queen's Hotel at Toronto [illegible] with him I had an interview with Thompson [illegible] Thompson [illegible] Payne [illegible] was near the door with [illegible] Clay [illegible] [illegible] soon came back [illegible] Payne in Clay's house, and I told him who he was [illegible] to say, I don't wish [illegible] I mentioned him to Clay [illegible] time, Clay asked [illegible] him and Clay answered [illegible] Canadian [illegible] and his conduct was [illegible] course was of a very confidential nature. I have been in Canada since [illegible] assassination [illegible] after [illegible] "Mr. Lincoln deserved his death [illegible] it was a pity he did not [illegible] it was too bad that [illegible] go when they wanted [illegible] who were to assassinate him. I had a conversation with Wm. C. Cleary, and I [illegible] what Mr. Thompson said in January. He said that [illegible] was one of the parties to whom Thompson referred; he said also, that it was too bad that the whole work had not been done, referring to the assassination. Cleary, who was [illegible] of Thompson, told me so. Thompson [illegible] Cleary was a very close mouthed man. Cleary also said that "they had better look out, we have it to do yet." He remarked that they would [illegible] quarrel, would never give up. He also said Booth had [illegible] Thompson, [illegible] and Surratt; these parties knew they [illegible] of the assassination a few days after, and were destroying a great many papers so they told me. I acted as a Government detective in Canada, and assumed the name of James Thompson, though I never registered it but always in other names; my whole object was to serve the Government. I saw the cipher [illegible] at Clay's house, in St. Catharines, in the Summer of 1864 [illegible] [illegible] the Government [illegible] the Secretary of State [illegible] named [illegible] Cleary [illegible] the Government [illegible] last [illegible] the War Department [illegible] having full powers from the rebel Government [illegible] Thompson [illegible] burn New York city [illegible] they were engaged [illegible] and went to Washington three days before [illegible] happened [illegible]

[illegible] Clay, San Francisco:

DEAR SIR: WE NOTICE AN ADvertisement in your daily papers respecting the [illegible] Lillie's Lock. Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen [illegible] representations made by Mr. Lillie [illegible]

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 15th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so called "safe" was taken from the ruins and upon opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or a rong [illegible] enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKenzie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as hard, pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire faring, however no better than ours.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed:) GEO. L. C[illegible] & CO.

For the last Fift[illegible] Years

This Safe has been well known in California and the Eastern States. They have resisted all the fires on the Pacific Coast, and we can point with satisfaction to the record that out of one of our Safes by means of Burglars. Their fire and burglar proof qualities are so well known that they need no further recommendation.

A good assortment of Tilton & McFarland's Fire and Burglar Proof Safes to be had at

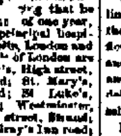
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of [illegible] that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated [illegible] of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Oxford Place, Paddington; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary, Charring Cross, Agar street, Strand, London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is [illegible] to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Disease.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Disease.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a [illegible] existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are [illegible] with any of these horrible life-destroying [illegible] that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the [illegible] of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Disease and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 252.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of these self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are Constitution shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look in the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. This is the only way it would be impossible to make inquiry. It will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for [illegible] advertising [illegible] in eight cases out of ten [illegible] there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure.
